Today's verdict in the Derek Chauvin murder trial will most likely lead to a series of protests in Minneapolis and cities across the country. Tensions are high and people on both sides of the decision are taking to the streets with some claiming victory and others dissatisfied with the outcome.

Our great concern is that these protests can escalate quickly and end violently, putting us all at risk. As a community bank, we care about our employees, customers, and communities. We encourage each of you to remain calm, respect one another, and most importantly never support violence as a response to injustice.

Stay Safe.

Sincerely,

John R. Buran
President and CEO
